Download free ism 3.0 software for marathi free typing..Anastomosis is the surgical joining of vascular tissues in the reconstruction of body conduits, such as blood vessels. Vascular anastomosis is performed during such diverse surgical procedures as the replacement of an artery with an artificial graft, the attachment of vascular or non-vascular prosthesis distal to the branches of a vascular system, the attachment of vascular or non-vascular tissue to the arterial system, the attachment of the free end of a severed artery or vein to the remaining end of a blood vessel, the attachment of detached or severed body conduit or organs to the remaining body conduits or organs, and the creation of a passage between two organs or other tissue groups. In the vascular reconstruction procedures referred to above, there is extreme trauma to the tissues of the body. In order to avoid substantial blood loss, rapid healing of the tissues and rapid formation of a firm bond between the graft and the host are highly desirable. Presently, the suture is the most common device used to achieve vascular anastomosis in plastic and vascular surgery. Suturing is a time-consuming procedure, requiring light from the surgeon, an assistant or a assistant's light, and a source of suturing material. Suturing is also undesirable in microsurgery, where the suture is difficult to see and use. Microwave anastomosis has been investigated as an anastomosis technique. The tissue is heated with heat energy from microwave energy which is coupled into the tissue. However, the microwave energy dissipates rapidly as the microwave energy is not coupled directly into the tissues. Thus, the tissues have no means of delivering the heat energy to the tissue adjacent the walls of the blood vessel to heat the tissue near the wall to overcome the deformation of the tissues into the shape of the vascular lumen. It is an object of this invention to provide a method and apparatus for the anastomosis of tissues with minimal heat loss to the anastomotic site. Another object of this invention is to provide a method and apparatus for anastomosis of tissues wherein heat may be concentrated at a plurality of locations adjacent a tissue wall to prevent deformation of the tissue into the shape of the lumen of the tissue wall. It is an object of the invention to provide a method and apparatus for anastomosis of tissues wherein the means for constriction of the tissue walls is formed from the material from which the tissue
